To Whom it May Concern:

Over the past several years I've had the opportunity to teach Jackie Rodriguez; it has been a pleasure. Her attendance, classroom behavior and work ethic have made her an ideal student. Throughout her high school career, I've had the opportunity to see her both inside and outside of school. Her maturity, responsibility level, and positive outlook on life are all things that will help her succeed.

Jackie has been very focused in preparing herself for her future, taking every educational opportunity and life experiences to increase her knowledge and skills. Jackie's dedication to her education can be seen by looking at her transcripts. For two years, she was my math student for Geometry and Algebra II. The math knowledge obtained in these two years will help her in her medical career.

She has improved her bilingual skills throughout high school classes which will definitely benefit her as she strives for her goal of becoming a paramedic. To prepare herself, she is taking an EMT course. Once she has completed the course, which she'll be a certified EMT.

Her sense of pride, excellent work ethic and better than average computer skills have prepared her to be successful upon high school graduation. No matter what the situation, Jackie can be counted on to follow through with her responsibilities, encourage those around her and take the necessary actions to achieve personal success.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

Being a teacher and coach for Tyler Evans, I have learned a lot about the type of person he is and the type of person he wants to become. Whether it's in the classroom or on the baseball field Tyler works hard to get things done the right way.

I first became acquainted with Tyler through our baseball city league. I have had the opportunity to coach Tyler for several years since that first day and learned a lot about him as a player and as an individual whom is very dedicated to what he loves to do. Tyler has a true love for the game of baseball and his hard work on and off the field has made him the player he is today.

In addition to coaching Tyler for several years, I have had the opportunity to teach him in the classroom. Tyler works hard to maintain his grades and to be successful in the classroom. Tyler demonstrates to me determination in the classroom and on the baseball field. Always wanting to make himself better. His future goal of going to school to play baseball and obtain a degree in Welding Technology is something that I feel Tyler can accomplish with his work ethic.

Above all, I think Tyler is a competitor. He strives to do his best and this quality will serve him well in the future.

I recommend Tyler for any award that he may be qualified for to help in furthering his education.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to write a letter of recommendation on behalf of Lynn Jenkins. Lynn has been a student in The Brand (the school newspaper) for two years now. He has showed time and time again that he is an outstanding student as well as a great classmate.

Lynn has a quiet, intuitive, and genuine personality. He works hard to complete all of his coursework on time and in a professional manner. Lynn is a great leader. This year he is The Managing Editor in the Brand which means he is not only in charge of getting his own work done, but also making sure his classmates are keeping up with assignments, editing their work, and helping them as needed. Lynn is dependable, responsible and has been a pleasure to have in class the past two years.

Lynn extended himself beyond the classroom. He worked many hours of his own time taking pictures of a number of school and community related events to put in the newspaper. When other classmates failed to complete their assignments with an upcoming print deadline, Lynn stepped up many times to complete whatever assignment to meet the deadline. He also competed on our basketball team for two years and golf for four years. Additionally, he earned membership in the National Honor Society and for two years, volunteering many hours by helping with the organization.

Without reservation, I recommend Lynn to you. Lynn should be highly regarded for any awards for which he qualifies. I felt privileged to have him as a student. I know that he has the desire, personality, and integrity to succeed as he leaves high school. With his willingness to learn, he needs only to identify the path he wants to follow. He will certainly reach his goal.

One cannot predict the future, but one can feel very comfortable that Lynn Jenkins will continue on a path of excellence he established in high school.

Sincerely,

It is a privilege to recommend Josh Sargent to you. Josh was an Accounting for me the past two years. He is a hard worker who is always on time and cheerful and was a pleasure to have in class

One of the most impressive attributes Josh possesses is his desire to achieve and improve. In spite of college-level material which faced him, he would always strive to understand the material and complete it to the best of his ability. While many others simply would do the minimum; Josh always gives you his best effort.

Josh is well regarded by his peers and other teachers. In addition, he is also active in extracurricular activities. As a member of the football team, he did not permit his academic work to suffer.

Josh Sargent is a student I would recommend for any scholarship that he applies for. I have full confidence that he will be able to face any challenges and achieve his goals. If you have further questions please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

I am honored to write this letter of recommendation for DeAndre Yedlin. I have been fortunate enough to have coached this young man for both summer baseball and high school baseball for four years and known him for five years. As DeAndre's coach I have gained knowledge about his character and work ethic both on and off the field.

Over the years DeAndre has grown into an honorable young man, who takes responsibility for his actions. If he makes a mistake, he is the first to come forward, confront the issues and learn from them. I have seen this same characteristic on the field as well. When coached to change something, DeAndre is opened-minded enough to listen and give something new an honest effort to make it work.

I have watched DeAndre mature into young man over the past five years. When he is on the field he takes a leadership role and gives his team the motivation they all need to succeed as individuals and as a team. He has also proven that he will also sacrifice his time for others. He has volunteered for many of the youth sports leagues in our community for over five years in the manner of coaching, refereeing, and being a youth umpire. These jobs can be difficult for a teenager but DeAndre has handled himself with poise and maturity. At time he has helped adults understand the nature of youth sports.

While participating in student government, three sports and other activities, DeAndre has maintained a 3.4 GPA. This year, he stepped out of his comfort zone and became the Senior Class Vice President. Which, again, shows his leadership skills. DeAndre is willing to try new things, even with hesitation, he will take on a task and push himself to make sure he does a job better than expected.

DeAndre still has not reached his full potential, but as he has earned the respect of myself and many others, with his motivation, work ethic and desire to want to be better, he will no doubt reach the goals he sets for himself.

With this, I would be proud to recommend DeAndre Yedlin for any college, job, club or educational award for which he qualifies. He is an outstanding young man that has proven to me time and again that he is loyal, hardworking and will stop at nothing to do his very best to succeed.

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

It is a privilege to write this letter of on behalf of Dom Dwyer. I met Dom two years ago through my course in Accounting and Finance. His senior year Dom took Consumer Finance. Through both courses, Dom showed himself to be a dependable young man with a good work ethic.

Dom is a hard worker who is goal-oriented and excels under pressure. He stays until his job is done no matter the task. He has demonstrated through his courses with me as well as others that he is willing to undertake any task assigned to him whether it is in the classroom or welding shop and complete it to the best of his abilities.

I recommend Dom because he has shown me he can perform his job until he gets it done and if he makes a mistake he will admit to it. He has also shown that he can work well with others and helps when he can. The character he displays will work well for him in the workplace in the future.

Because of Dom's combination of skills, work ethic and character, I can recommend him without reservation.

To Whom It May Concern:

I have had the privilege of knowing Megan Rapinoe for four years. Through the courses that Megan has taken from me I have been able to gauge her ability and character. Megan has demonstrated herself to be an excellent student of impeccable character. She has demonstrated on a daily basis that she is willing to go the extra mile.

From the beginning Megan distinguished herself in my classes. Her freshman year she joined the staff of the school newspaper, The Brand. She demonstrated an impressive ability to write, which only improved as the year went on. She performed so well, and above expectations she was appointed an editor of the newspaper for the next two years.

This year she serves as the Managing Editor. I always look for more than good grades in a student, and this is where Megan really excels beyond the average student. In this role she has shown that she works well with others, but simultaneously leads through example. She is the student that can be counted on to make sure the paper is done well and on time. She works tirelessly on the paper as well as all of her other endeavors, which are numerous.

Knowing Megan is knowing that she also excels outside the classroom. She has been involved in the high school's leadership class, and was elected Class President. She has also worked extensively with the Honors Community Service Class performing community service in the school and around the community. Her active role in service organizations distinguishes her from other "good" students. It displays her ability to work with others and willingness to sacrifice her time for the betterment of her community. Megan has also been a leader in athletics. On the softball field and the golf course she has been a part of teams which were extremely successful.

There are not many young people who can bring her breadth of experience to the next level of their education. More importantly, I cannot think of many others who can offer her strength of personality and character to those around her.

Megan's academic success and achievements make her an excellent candidate for any scholarship. I have no reservation in recommending Megan Rapinoe to you.

Sincerely,
